To Whom It Does Concern,

The Copyright Alliance and A2IM (the U.S. independent music label trade organization) have alerted me to this open invitation from the Obama Administration to speak my convictions regarding the rights of creators.

My name is Kevin Ashe, I live in Eugene Oregon. I am a music composer hoping for a chance to sell my material into a wide variety of music industry markets. With piracy running rampant, my meager hopes have been reduced even further for realizing the chance to profit within any of the markets that my material would appeal to. Please consider the resources I have included in this email for bringing reform to the music industry.

Sincerely,

Kevin Ashe
