Our copyright laws have supported the music publishing companies I own and have run for three decades since they were founded in 1958. The royalties the songs earn here help support hundreds of songwriters that we pay. and now they even help support the estates of those writers who are no longer with us. the creator is dependent on earning for their lifes works, and if you take away these protections that we have in copyright - we deprive all creators of the right to be compensated everywhere. please help us to eternally protect and preserve our rights to create -and be paid for our WORKS! .
