Dear Ms. Espinel,

Protecting intellectual property and doing what is necessary to provide a stable economic environment for the creators is of paramount importance. The rapid growth of the internet has only made it increasing more difficult to protect intellectual property. Our government must do everything in its power to insure that creators are paid for the use of their valuable work. The well being of our culture and that of the entire world depends upon a healthy state of protection for these creations. Please let President Obama know that we as a community are depending on his leadership to protect our rights and our livelihood in these most challenging of times.

Thank you for your support of our most worthy cause.
