Comments: The copyright laws in this country are already outrageous and I will not support any law that wishes to add additional enforcement, or expansion of copyright laws until the current system is fixed. I urge you to seek assistance from parties on both sides of the issue including the United States Pirate Party Part one: I feel that if there are any losses due to the sharing of files online, that they are negligible to the gains from the increase of popularity, free advertisement, and additional sales (Look at the profits and popularity this has gained rapper Eminem). Part two: You should update your objectives, to start looking for ways to work with businesses to adopt a better model that includes the free sharing of ideas (which is what this country is founded on). If that is not possible, then I request that you look for forms of enforcement that do not go against the consumer, and the rights of consumers. Such as, the ability to backup media that you already o!

wn. I support authors rights to own their content, but I also want this to be done in a way that does not impede my ability to use the content that I own in a way of my choosing. I also do not wish for IP enforcement to stand in the way of my privacy.
