

PUBLIC SUBMISSION

As of: 11/21/14 5:05 PM
Received: August 20, 2014
Status: Pending_Post
Tracking No. 1jy-8dwr-avw3
Comments Due: September 19, 2014
Submission Type: Web

Docket: OMB-2014-0002

Draft Report to Congress on the Benefits and Costs of Federal Regulations and Agency Compliance with the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act

Comment On: OMB-2014-0002-0011

2014 Draft Report to Congress on the Benefits and Costs of Federal Regulations and Agency Compliance with the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act

Document: OMB-2014-0002-DRAFT-0013

Comment on FR Doc # N/A

---

Submitter Information

Name: disgruntled mom

Organization: NA

---

General Comment

There are not enough words to describe how infuriating this policy is. While I can appreciate the intention behind the proposal and there is always room for improvement, by creating a blanket policy that punishes active and hungry children by not giving them enough calories at lunch; you are also creating a hardship for the parents who buy lunch for their kids and now have their kids come home complaining they are starving. You can not force children to eat at school differently then their parents feed them at home. If the children refuse to eat broccoli or salad at home, and their parents allow them to refuse it, what in the world makes you think they will eat it at school?! Leave parenting and food to the parents. Education to the states and minimize your encroachment into our lives.