Introduction

Strengthening Communities Together-- That's what we can achieve through increased collaboration between the High Intensity Drug Trafficking Areas Program counties and the Drug-Free Communities Coalitions. Collaborating on intelligence and information sharing, planning and implementing prevention programs, and providing trainings and workshops can serve as a powerful catalyst for community level change. Ultimately, we all have the same goals, and many HIDTAs and coalitions around the country are working closely together. Already, HIDTA directors are serving on boards of DFC coalitions, collaborating on organizing awareness programs and prevention programming, and even providing data exchanges and threat assessment research. We commend these efforts, and encourage collaboration between all the HIDTAs and DFCs throughout the nation.

That is why we created the OFFICE OF NATIONAL DRUG CONTROL POLICY GRANT PROGRAMS DIRECTORY.

Let us help you take the first step in identifying and reaching out to new partners in your areas. We encourage you to use this directory as a resource in your work to combat illicit substance use and trafficking, as well as to prevent. As always, we thank you for your continuing dedication to the work in this field, and we are excited to see the outcomes this collaboration brings.

Thank you.

Deputy Director Mary Lou Leary

Office of National Drug Control Policy: Organization Chart

The Office of National Drug Control Policy is a component of the Executive Office of the President, and was created by the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988. ONDCP advises the President on drug-control issues, coordinates drug-control activities and related funding across the Federal government, and produces the annual National Drug Control Strategy, which outlines Administration efforts to reduce illicit drug use, manufacturing and trafficking, drug-related crime and violence, and drug-related health consequences. The Office of National Drug Control Policy has two grant programs: The Drug-Free Communities Support Program and The High Intensity Drug Trafficking Areas Program.

The Drug-Free Communities Support Program, created by the Drug-Free Communities Act of 1997, is the Nation's leading effort to mobilize communities to prevent youth substance use. Directed by the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy, in partnership with the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, the DFC Program provides grants to community coalitions to strengthen the infrastructure among local partners to create and sustain a reduction in local youth substance use.

The High Intensity Drug Trafficking Areas Program, created by Congress with the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988, provides assistance to Federal, state, local, and tribal law enforcement agencies operating in areas determined to be critical drug trafficking regions of the United States. This program works to reduce drug trafficking and production in the United States by assessing the threat in its defined area, developing a strategy to address that threat, designing an initiative to implement the strategy, and preparing an annual report of their performance.
